

psg newsletter

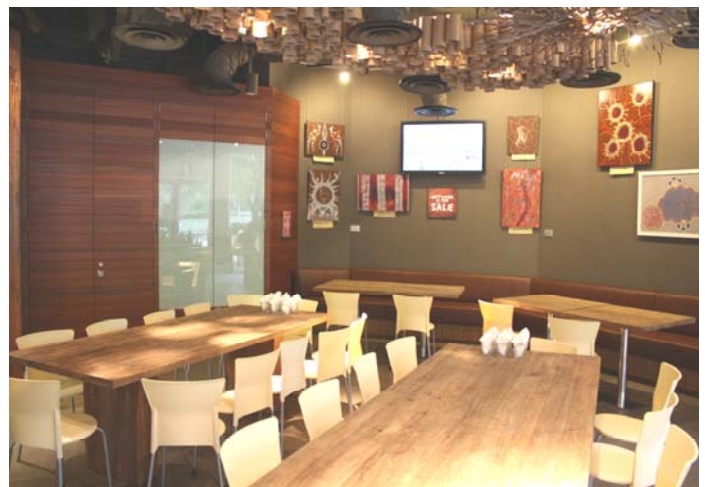

Issue 8, September 2008

The advent of modernization is often equated to life on the fast lane. We now live in a world where multi-tasking and time management are key factors to success. It is not surprising therefore, that a metaphor for racing has become the common reference for present day living. A race, especially Race Car Driving exhibits alertness, quick-wittedness, strategy, teamwork and of course, excitement... words we all hope can be used to describe ourselves as individuals. As an organization, however, psg has proven time and again that we live and thrive on the fast lane! We should always remember however, that "racing is a matter of spirit, not strength." [-Janet Guthrie, the first woman to earn a starting spot in the Indianapolis 500]

Congratulations to those who closely monitored and supervised the construction of the BOOMARANG Restaurant! It officially opened in time for the historic Singapore Grand Prix, the first ever of its kind which took place amidst the evening skies. As proud as the Singaporeans are of having accomplished this Racing phenomenon, psg is equally proud of contributing this new Australian dining experience!

Aside from offering delectable dishes, the restaurant aims to lead by example and targets to become the first LEED (Leadership In Energy and Environmental Design) certified Restaurant in South East Asia. A lot of innovation, design and planning were put together in order to achieve this concept. Designs from the Air Conditioning Control, Interior Finishes (using recycled products), Lighting Control and Water Consumption Efficiency were meticulously applied not only to meet the requirements to be LEED certified but to also show that psg is doing its share on saving and caring for the environment.

Kumar, Matt (Australia), Vishal, Amrut and Priti (Mumbai, India) participated in the recently concluded Green Building Congress 2008 held at the Grand Hyatt in Mumbai, India from the 24th-27th of September. psg was showcased in the display stand representing Austrade (Australian Trade Commission) which featured organizations in the Asia Pacific region who are dedicated to preserving the environment and promoting Green building materials in an effort to bolster our commitment to (CSR) Corporate Social Responsibility.

“New psg People”

Yu Han Chao – Shanghai

Assistant Project Manager

Arnil Sutacio Ciervo – Singapore

Electrical and Instrumentation Supervisor

Nguyen Thanh Ngoc – Vietnam

Office cum Finance Administrator

Raghavendra Rao – Gurgaon

Project Manager

Daniel G. Triunfo – Philippines

Interior Designer

Dionne Melodi G. Pajares – Philippines

Interior Designer

ECO QUOTE:

Don't blow it - good planets are hard to find. Quoted in Time Magazine

Google Singapore is here!! Construction of this new office began on August 05, 2008 and was concluded on the last week of September.

FDOB began October 06, 2008. Cheers to all who worked on this project! We look forward to accomplishment of the next Google projects!

In line with the Management's decision to forego this year's Getaway in favour of providing its employees with better benefits, and ensuring the success of organizations long term goals, let us keep in mind that : "It's better to save for a rainy day, than to wait for the rain before we save." Let us also be reminded of the worldwide economic crisis, and that we should count our blessings that we enjoy the security of having steady employment.